This technical drawing shows the pattern for a hood's binding, consisting of two pieces. The top piece is a large, curved shape with a small rectangular notch at the top left. The bottom piece is a trapezoidal shape with a central horizontal section. This central section has two parallel lines, with the upper line labeled '80' and the lower line labeled '74'. The sides of the bottom piece are angled downwards and outwards, ending in double parallel lines. A horizontal line separates the two pattern pieces.
