This image shows a handwriting practice sheet for the number 23. The number '23' is printed in a large, blue, sans-serif font in the top left corner. The rest of the page is filled with a grid of dashed blue lines for tracing and solid black lines for independent practice. The grid is organized into three main vertical sections. The first section on the left is for the digit '2' and contains three rows of lines. The middle section is for the digit '3' and contains three rows of lines. The rightmost section contains three rows of lines for additional practice. Each row consists of a solid black line on the left, a dashed blue line in the middle, and a solid black line on the right, all slanted at an angle to facilitate writing practice.
