The image shows a technical drawing of a curved structural component, possibly a part of a machine or a mold. The component is defined by a thick black double-line border. It has a complex shape with several curves and a small rectangular notch at the bottom right. A small 'H' label is positioned near the bottom left of the component. The drawing is set against a light gray background with a thin gray border. The text 'page 5 / 3' is centered in the middle of the page.
