A geometric diagram on a white page. It features a horizontal line at the top. A line segment extends from the left end of this horizontal line, sloping downwards and to the right. Another line segment extends from the right end of the horizontal line, sloping downwards and to the right. A third line segment connects the end of the first sloping line to the end of the second sloping line. A fourth line segment extends from the end of the second sloping line, sloping downwards and to the right. A small square symbol is located at the intersection of the second and fourth line segments. A small square symbol is also located at the intersection of the first and third line segments. A small square symbol is located at the intersection of the second and fourth line segments. The text 'C03' is centered on the page.
