A diagram at the top of the page shows two nested, downward-opening parabolic curves. The inner curve is lighter and has a small square point at its vertex. The outer curve is darker and also has a small square point at its vertex. A vertical line segment connects these two points.

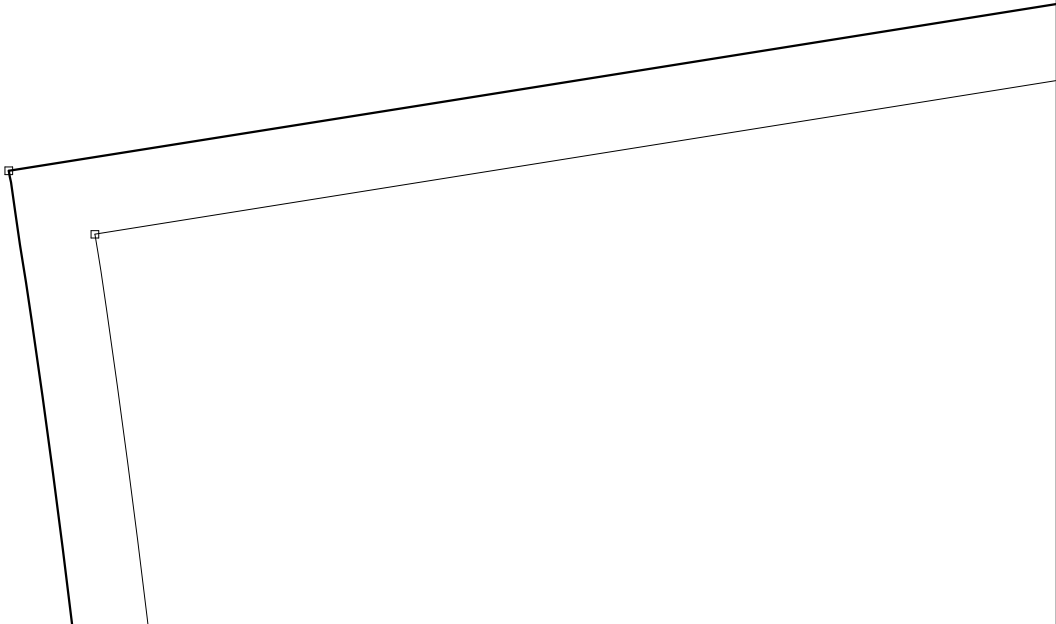

C12

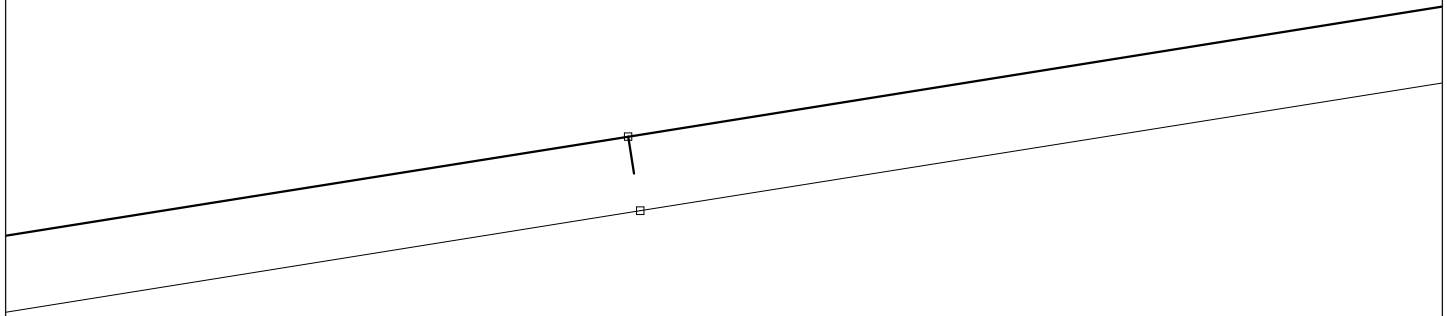

A technical drawing on a light gray background. It features a large, light gray trapezoidal shape. A vertical line runs along the right side of the trapezoid. A horizontal line segment is drawn across the middle of the trapezoid, intersecting the vertical line. The label 'C13' is positioned to the right of the horizontal line segment, between the vertical line and the right edge of the trapezoid.
