Pinch Grip Oven Mitt Pattern

When my son was a baby, he loved to watch "Walking with Dinosaurs," that great BBC documentary series. When I say "loved" I mean he watched it every day at the same time, 11:30 am, for half an hour -- he was 11 months old. This routine lasted for a year. After the episode, he would take lunch, a bath, and an afternoon nap. After he woke up from his nap he would grab a pair of yellow oven mitts and he would pretend for the rest of the day to be a Tyrannosaurus Rex, for him it was a "Dieddo".

I bought the oven mitts in Ikea. They were yellow and lasted 15 years. At the end, they were not the best-looking mittens, but I just couldn't give them up. They gave me so many fond memories of my small kid in yellow shorts and yellow oven mitts running up and down the park "scaring" everyone.

Well, some time has passed and those original oven mitts have since disappeared as has my now-grown-up baby boy. Well, he's not disappeared, but just moved away to start his own life. In any case, making this oven mitt pattern reminds me of him and in the hopes that you find it useful, I wanted to share the design with you too.

This is an easy and fun project that should be suitable for all levels of sewists and will take only an hour or so to complete.

To print your PDF pattern

Your pattern pieces come at the end of these instructions. For accurate printing, please make sure you are using the latest version of Adobe Reader. You can download the latest version here if you need to.

Select File → Print and the print dialogue box opens. Under Page Sizing and Handling, select ACTUAL SIZE . Check the preview in the right hand side illustration. Select the page numbers you want to print. You can print the whole document, or just the pattern pieces.

On the edge of the top left page is a box you can use to test your printing. This box should measure 2 inches square. If yours is wildly different you will need to check your printer options to make sure the pages are not being resized.

Use the grey guides on the overlap of the sheets to match up the pattern pieces, folding under or cutting off any overlaps, tape together and cut out your pattern pieces.
